LANCASTER AND VICINITY.

The Grippe.

Cold that makes you rear and nip;
Quinine with a fiery nip;
Bolling drinks to sip and sip;
Lemonade and high-spired flip;
Back that aches from neck to hip;
Swollen nose and puffy lip;
Head that seems to go on ship;
Pulse that shows a lively clip;
Strength that swift away doth slip;
Feet that stumble, stab and trip;
Knees that toward each other dip;
Gait that rolls as if on ship;
Tongue that's sure to the tip;
Still more quinine, 'nother nip.
—Lancaster Times.

Fresh oysters at T. Curry's.

New stock sterling silver spoons for wedding presents at Thompsons.

Zarings flour, the best made, try it and be convinced. Patterson & Sympson.

For rent, a nice office of two rooms on Lexington street. For terms, apply to Mrs. Dr. O'Neal.

Don't forget we are headquarters for buggy harness. See our prices.
W. J. Romans.

John B. Laskey, Agent for Nicholasville Laundry. All work guaranteed. Headquarters, Logan Dry Goods Store. Give him a trial. Jan. 10th

We have a handsome line of insertings, laces, Embroideries, All-overs and Hamburgs, just received and opened. See them while the stock is unbroken. J. Joseph.

Coal and Feed.

Best coal always on hand, also a cheaper grade, for those who prefer quantity to quality, yet a good cheap coal. Ship stuff, shelled oats, Hay, etc., at Leavell's Mill.

Will Not Stop Work.

It will be gratifying news to their many customers to know that work at the Danville Steam Laundry will not be interfered with. All orders will be attended to promptly and, as usual, satisfaction guaranteed.

Think About This.

We are here to stay. All we have is located in Lancaster. With this being the case, can we afford to give a man a rough shave or bungle some hair-cut? Certainly not. Come to our shop and get the best work to be had. Henry Duncan, the old reliable barber.

Look at Withers' Folding Beds.

Overcoats twenty per cent. less than cost. Logan & Robinson.

Boys and childrens' suits to close out regardless of cost. Logan & Robinson.

Why shiver these cold nights when,
at a small outlay, you can get fine
all wool blankets at Joseph's.

You can always find what you want
in Furniture, Carpet, Mattings, Wall Paper, &c at W. W. Withers', Stanford.

Store Room For Rent.
Known as the Gaines room. Possession given immediately. Apply at THE RECORD office.

There was much encouraging railroad talk heard Monday. The county can get the road if she wants it. This is a foregone conclusion.

For Sale.

Nine good yearling steers, weight about 650. John S. Baughman, Hyattsville, Ky.

For Sale.

Sixty acres of land, four miles from Lancaster. Dwelling and out houses.
Well watered. Apply to Will Hill.

The temperance lectures at the court house last week were slimly attended, on account of the inclement weather. The lectures were considered unusually fine.

When you are in Stanford, call at Withers' up-to-date furniture house.
The goods are there to show for themselves, and arranged so that you can see them.

Successful Start.

The Garrard Hotel is now open and has all appointments complete for the entertainment of guests. The fare cannot be surpassed by any house in Kentucky.

All Other Girls Envious.

Paris has a pretty young lady so charmingly cross-eyed that she can entertain three young gentlemen at once and send them away each thinking that he monopolized most of her attention during the evening.

Please remember the new grocery store near Marksbury's Hemp-house, where you can get big value for your money. Our goods are all new and fresh, and the very best quality.
Robert Underwood.

Rejoice.

Mrs. Wm. Boyston died suddenly: t her home, near Paint Lick, yesterday morning. The interment will take place at the Lancaster Cemetery this morning at ten o'clock. Owing to the late hour we received the information
a more extended notice is impossible in this issue. She was a sister of Arch B. McKinney, of Danville.

County Court Day.

Monday was very disagreeable and only a small crowd came to court.
Probably a hundred cattle were at the pens, most of which were sold at 3 to 3 1/2, some yearlings brought 3.85 and butcher cattle were very slow at 3c.
A number of plug horses sold at about the usual price. It was a tame day, all around.

The "Race Horse" Shaver.

Henry Duncan, the up-to-date barber has had Sam Blakemore working for him, and the customers are delighted with the work. Blakemore has a wide reputation and is one of the best barbers in Kentucky. When you get in Blakemore's chair, you are sure of a clean, easy shave. He can not be surpassed, and is seldom equaled outside the big eastern cities.

The Town Kicker.

Winchester Democrat:—The kickers
on the farm are not so hard to get along with as the kickers in town. On the farm there is the kicking cow and our long eared friend, the mule,
while in town is the old moss-back,
who wants all the privilege of municipal living, without paying for them and blocks so far as he can, every municipal improvement. The cow may be sold for beef and the mule traded for a shotgun, but nothing but a funeral will get rid of the town kicker.

Democratic Nominees.

The Democratic county committee met at the law office of R. H. Tomlin-son Monday and nominated the following ticket:

A. D. Ford, county judge,
J. A. Doty, county clerk,
Thos Austin, assessor,
Jas. I. Hamilton, county attorney,
W. L. Lawson, sheriff,
David G. Ross, jailor,
Miss Eliza Lusk, school sup't.

Jas. P. Bourne was nominated for magistrate in this district, and Capt.
I. M. Dunn for the same office in the Bryantsville district. The ticket gives general satisfaction in the party and is considered by democratic leaders as a winner.

Always on top in quantity and quality, and at the bottom in prices.
T. Currey.

Travelling men receive prompt and polite attention at the Garrard Hotel.
Fine sample rooms, with abundance of light.

Rev. L. Robinson has returned from his trip to Huntington, West Va., and will preach here Sunday morning and Bryantsville Sunday night.

I want your butter and eggs also dressed fowls, for which will pay the highest price in cash or groceries.
T. Currey.

Don't fail to see our ladies shoes at 50, 75, $1.00 and $1.25. These prices are twenty five per cent. less than manufacturers cost. Logan & Robinson

Special Sunday Meals

The new Garrard Hotel makes a specialty of Sunday dinners and suppers. All delicacies of the season prepared in excellent manner.

Moves to Danville.

Mr. J. R. Hill and family moved to Danville last week, where they will make their home. Mr. Hill is a contractor and has a big lot of work on hand in Danville.

Our spring stocks of buggies, sur-ries, phaetons and road wagons are now coming in and are the largest and most complete lines ever in Lancaster. Prices can't be duplicated.
W. J. Romans.

Republican Convention.

By order of the county committee,
a mass convention will be held at Mc-Creary Saturday, Feb. 2, to nominate candidates for magistrate and constable in Buckeye magisterial district
No. 3 on the republican ticket.

Business For Sale.

Having made arrangements to engage in other business, will sell my entire stock of General Merchandise, storehouse and dwelling at cost. Anyone wishing a good bargain can secure one here.
C. C. Becker,
Bryantsville.

An Editor in Trouble.

Editors sometimes get into trouble
when no trouble is dreamed of, as did the Missouri editor who thought he was writing a very nice obituary notice. In speaking of a respected old lady in his own town he made his paper say: "She was a devoted Christian until about four years ago, when she joined the Baptist church."

Death of Mr. Jake Newland.

Mr. Jake Newland, an aged farmer, residing near Hammack, this county, accidentally stuck a thorn in his hand
last week, and died from blood poisoning shortly after. Mr. Newland gained much notoriety a year or two since by successfully raising coffee on his farm. The matter was published all over the country. He was a good, christian man, and enjoyed the confidence and esteem of all who knew him.

Organized A Band.

A number of young folks met at the New Garrard Friday evening and organized an orchestra. Mr. Long, the accommodating proprietor of the Garrard, who is a musician of great ability and much experience, kindly consented to instruct the band, and under his able direction, the members are making fair progress. The organization will not make a tour of the great cities, but merely meet and saw away for their own enjoyment. The instrumentation is as follows: Misses Fannie Collier, Nell Johnston, Willie
Belle Burnside, Mary Gill, Mr. Long and Owen Shugars, violins, Will West, clarinet, J. E. Stormes and Overman, cornets, Louis Landram, trombone
and J. H. Kinnaird, bass.

Unfortunate Affair.

Will Hamilton and Ed Minor had a difficult Monday night in which Minor was shot three times. One shot took effect in the arm, one entered behind the ear and came out under the right eye, and the other entered the back.
He was carried to the Garrard Hotel where Drs Wesley and Kinnaird are attending him. The trouble came up on Battle Row. As is the Record's rule in such cases, we will wait the trial to get the particulars, as then no injustice can be done either party.
Judge Burnside held Hamilton in the sum of $500, awaiting the result of the wounds. The trouble is deeply deplored, as both young men are very popular and have many friends.

LATER. Drs. Butler and Dunlap, of Louisville, came last night and brought an X-rays to locate one of the balls. They succeeded in getting it out. Mag McDermott, who saw the shooting, has been arrested and put in jail. Little or no hope is entertained for Minor's recovery.

Crokinole boards and other games
at Thompsons.

Lost, black kid glove, Sunday the 20th. Return to RECORD office.

Mens' and boys caps at your own price. Logan & Robinson.

Give us a call when in need of groceries, we have a full line. Patterson & Symson.

With three or four large sample rooms, the Garrard Hotel cannot be surpassed in appointments for traveling men.

Preaching at New Antioch.

Meeting will be held at New Anti-ock the 2nd Sunday in February. Services conducted by Elder Holton
Frank. All are cordially invited.

Mr. Robert T. Whittaker and family left this week for Yates Centre, Kansas, where they will reside in the future. THE RECORD wishes for Mr.
Whittaker much success in his new home.

Telephone Moved.

The long distance Bell telephone has been removed from McRoberts' drug store to the Garrard Hotel. A neat, sound-proof booth has been installed and prompt service is guaranteed.

Splendid Order.

Only a few drunks in town Monday.
They were promptly run in. The hoodlum element has about come to the conclusion that they can not raise hades and then shove a log under it in Lancaster now. That's a thing of the past.

Want to Buy or Sell?

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Davidson & Lan-drum. They have entered into a partnership for the sale and buying of town property and farms, and can make it to your interest if you want anything in this line. All property listed with them will be extensively advertised in the CENTRAL RECORD, which is the only way to get a good price for what you want to sell. Its folly to try to sell anything unless you let the people know what you have.
Mr. Davidson has had much experience in the real estate business, and while he looks after "the papers in the case," Mr. Landram will make a free use of printer's ink to inform prospective buyers of the land to be sold. Only a small per cent. will be charged, and if no sale is made, it will cost you nothing.

We still have a beautiful line of French flannels for waists.

Gold and Silver Braids and Buttons
in great variety, at J. Joseph's.

A few pairs of Buell Booties left that we will close at cost. Logan & Robinson.

Patterson & Symson have just received a nice assortment of Ladies and Childrens Shoes, up to date Shoes at correct prices.

House For Rent.

4-room house at Camp Dick Robinson, known as the toll house. Good garden and outbuildings. 12-7-11.
Banks Hudson.

We have had 27 years experience in the carriage business and are now better equipped for doing all kinds of repair work than ever before. First-class machinics in every branch of it.
W. J. Romans.

A Fine Crop.

About the best crop of hemp we have heard of was raised by Mr. Bright Herring, at his farm on Danville pike.
On 2 1/2 acres of the piece he got 16,000 pounds, which is also of a very superior quality.

Let Us Prove This.

You don't have to run off to other towns to get a good hand made buggy. We are building them in our own little city. Come see the material going in them. Money can not buy better material than we are putting in these buggies.
W. J. Romans.

A Semi-Weekly.

As soon as it is definitely settled that the Southern Railway will be constructed through Garrard county,
THE RECORD will be issued semi-weekly. The new road will bring enough hustling citizens to the town to give sufficient support to the paper, and we will immediately employ additional men and devote our undivided time to writing for the paper. As matters are now, the meagre support given the office does not justify the employment of sufficient hands to do the work, and the editor is compelled to set type and do job work. With this state of case, it is easy to see why a better paper is not sent out. This is a sad state of affairs, but it is nevertheless true.
Some may say the right man is not at the helm. Well, mabe that's true, too, but how many other men have made the attempt at publishing a paper in Lancaster? This is slightly personal, and we beg pardon for mentioning it.

100 pairs of ladies shoes below manufacturers cost. Logan & Robinson.

See the stamped couch pillows at Joseph's. They are all the go. Jist ready for embroidery.

Grass Land for Rent.

About 350 acres of good grass land,
located near Bryantville.
Hallie B. Sweeney, Bryantville.
17-11

The grip is causing illness in almost every family in town. Some persons are suffering intensely, and many have taken their beds. While there's no immediate danger, yet a little im-prudence will bring on pneumonia.

Crockery For Sale.

Mrs. H. Singleton has rented out the front rooms of her house, but will continue to keep all kinds of crockery for sale at low prices. She will continue to keep the stock at her residence on Lexington street.

Important to Knights of Pythias.

Garrard Lodge, No. 29, pulled itself together last week and is starting in under flattering prospects for a successful run of work. There will be work at the meeting tomorrow, Friday night, beside other matters of great interest to the brethren. Be there on time.

CHEAP RATES

To New York City via the Chesapeake
and Ohio Railway.

On account of the spring meeting of the New York Merchants Association, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway will sell round trip tickets to New York at one and one-third fare on the certificate plan, good going on February 13th to the 17th inc., and March 1st to the 4th inc., and will be good to return 30 days from date of sale. On this basis the round trip fare from Lexington is $24.00, and tickets will be good for stopovers in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia
not to exceed ten days in either place.
The Chesapeake and Ohio Route is the only line from Lexington and Central Kentucky with through sleepers and Dining Car service through to New York without change.

Any information given, or reservations desired will be made on receipt of advice. If you have not yet registered with the Secretary of the New York Association, better do so at once. Geo. W. Barney Div. Pass.

CENTRAL RECORD

THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1901

EVERY WEEK BY LOUIS LANDRAM, Publisher.
LANCASTER, KENTUCKY.

ONE YEAR, IN ADVANCE.....$1.00
SIX MONTHS......50
THREE......25

The following, from the LaGrange Graphic, is one of the prettiest sermons ever printed in so few words: "I saw a dancing bubble upon the silvery surface of a restless river. For a moment it sparkled with golden light as it caught and held the sunshine glory, and I thought how beautiful it was. Then it went down. For a moment the river told where it had vanished, and then swept on without a ripple on its placid bosom. And I thought how like our lives was the bubble on the river. For a moment we sparkle in our tiny spheres, hope and toil and struggle, love and long and dream and then go down beneath the surface forever. In a short time the tiny ripples we have caused die out, and the great river of humanity flows on undisturbed. So let us strive within our brief existence to reflect only the sunshine, nor mirror the clouds above us."

"THE unlucky men all are kin; they all have certain qualities alike," says "An American Mother" in the February Ladies' Home Journal. "They have eyes keen to look into the root of things, but which also dream and see visions; they have hot human blood, they love or hate in no half-way measure. To each of them, too, comes at times—no matter what the business or pursuit may be by which they strive to push their way among men and grow rich—a sudden disgust of it, heartfelt and real, a contempt for the work and its successes. They dream of something better than better than money or office, and they try to clutch at it. So they go thro' life, groping for success with one hand and for their dream with the other, and they lose both. We must choose either God or Mammon as master and keep faith with him if we mean to succeed."

Much talk has been stirred up over the fact that the flag on the White House was hauled down to half mast through respect to England's dead Queen. The "great respect" shown between these two nations is amusing. One is afraid and the other glad of it, so they are constantly prancing around courting one another. Down in their hearts, John Bull and Uncle Sam have little love, but they know that if they ever have a scrap both will receive a sound drubbing. It is like unto the two "biggest" boys at a country school; nothing can cause them to fall out.

NOW THAT Sir Knight McKinley has been given such a cordial invitation to attend the Louisville Conclave, its dollars to pig tails Teddy Roosevelt will endeavor to get the degrees in time to receive a bid and wear more gold braid than any high-muck-a-muck present. He is sure to make the attempt, but whether he will be found "worthy and well qualified" remains to be seen. That's one of the few, very few, high honors in this country which money and wire-pulling will not obtain.

A CHURCH at Stanford is being converted into a livery stable, and only a few weeks ago the Middleboro opera house was also remodeled into a home for the horse. While this is out of the ordinary, yet the buildings will be occupied by the best "citizens" the state affords. A good horse is worth ten of the average men of today.

TENNESSEE is the latest state to pass an anti-cigarette law. These laws are not worth the paper upon which they are printed. As long as the gourd-headed boys can get the price, the cigarettes will be forthcoming. It's like a fellow who wants a drink, (and has the price) it can be found, and that quickly.

"THEY say" Mr. W. J. Bryan refused $10,000 from a soap maker for the use of the last page of his new paper. A bigger lie was never invented. You can take ten thousand dollars and put an ad anywhere these days. We suspect St. Peter would take that sum for an ad on the back of the check on his key ring.

THE RECORD is glad the Lexington Herald did not hold to the 8x10 size it was experimenting with last week. Crowding Col. Breckinridge's editorials into a paper that size was very much on the order of a 200-pound maiden sitting upon the knee of a 95-pound lover.

AN ICE plant, with a capacity of 110 tons daily, is being erected in Lexington. By running day and night it may be able to keep enough on hand to make mint juleps and toddies for the citizens of that bustling city, but this remains to be seen.

COUNTRY towns are adopting the sensible idea of numbering their houses. This is a good plan, we presume, but when we are unable to find our house, nothing short of a friend or a policeman will help us out of the trouble.

Such little pills as DeWitt's Little Early Risers are very easily taken, and they are wonderfully effective in cleansing the liver and bowels. F P Frisbie.

PAINT LICK.

Henry Spratt went to Cleveland, O., on important business.

C. B. Engleman sold a good farm horse to J. D. Goodloe for $75.

The little son of Mr. Harve Rolston died on the 20th, of pneumonia.

J. D. Goodloe bought a good saddle horse from Mr. Meadows for $50.

Dr. Poyntz is able to be out again, after being confined to his bed for several days.

Some of our merchants are "Chewing the rag, and threaten to make war on each other."

Jas Rucker returned home Saturday, after spending several days with his parents, at Berry.

Mrs. Josie Campbell, Miss Mattie Wylie, James Ralston and one of H. Ralston's children are all low with pneumonia.

There is more sickness in this community than ever was known before. Dr. Casenberg went to see twenty different patients in one day.

What is the matter with our street lamps? They are all right. They look mighty pretty in the day time, but don't shine much at night.

Mr. Jacob Newland stuck a thorn in his hand while at work and died from the effects. He was eighty years old and greatly liked by everybody.

Mr. Richard Butler, who has been acting as depot agent here for a couple of weeks, returned home Monday. He made many friends during his stay.

BRYANTSVILLE.

Rev. Robinson will fill the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday evening.

Mr. S. M. Steadman, sold his farm to Will Baughman, of the Bend vicinity, and has purchased of Mr. Mote Scott, his farm. Mr. Scott contemplates going to Lexington to make that city his home. We regret giving up such good neighbor citizens, but our loss is their gain.

Mr. Charlie Rouble, of Buena Vista neighborhood had the misfortune of getting his house and contents destroyed by fire on the 10th. The family was away from home at the time and nothing was saved. It was partly insured. Also on the 26th, Mr. Gene Berkely, had a tenant house burned near his dwelling, which caused him very much uneasiness, it being so close, it was saved with difficulty.

Mr. C. C. Becker is much improved and will soon be able to be out again, also little Fannie Holcom, who has been very ill with pneumonia, is better. Little Miss Allie Jennings, of Danville, is visiting relatives here. Miss Alice Dunn, of Danville, is the guest of her sister, Miss Mattie. Mrs. Haselden visited relatives in Danville last week.

MT. HEBRON.

Grippe, pneumonia and measles are raging in this vicinity.

Mr. N. T. Grow sold his hemp seed crop at $1.75 per bushel.

Lewis Murphy has rented a piece of land from Mrs. Lizzie Allen for $100.

Mr. Dennis Scott sold his hemp crop to Mr. Glass, at Hickman, for $5 per hundred.

Rev. Wolford, of Louisville, filled his appointment at this place Saturday and Sunday and delivered two very interesting sermons.

Miss Jennie Rogers, of Stanford, spent Saturday night with Miss A. E. Scott. Miss Una Montgomery was the guest of her parents Saturday night. Miss Myrtle Upton, of Faulkner Station, was with her sister Mrs. Job Marsee the latter part of last week. Mr. Samuel Duncan visited his sister near High Bridge last week.

McCREARY.

There is a great deal of sickness in this neighborhood.

Miss Jennie Guley, of Hiattsville, has been visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lackey. Little Ethyl V. Saddle, who has been quite sick is improving rapidly.

Morgan Sutton, of this place, and Miss Sallie Smith, of Hubble, were married Thursday the 24th, at Lancaster. They were driven immediately to the home of the groom's brother, Davis Sutton, of this place, where a nice supper was served. The bride is an accomplished young lady, and has many friends, who wish her much joy in her new life. The groom is an industrious young man.

FLATWOODS.

W. H. Furr has a nice Jersey cow and young calf for sale.

W. H. Furr traded a work horse to James Rogers for a bay filly and $7.

Hayes Anderson, of col., sold a nice saddle horse to Leslie Harber for $85.

Mr. Geo. Archer has returned home after spending several weeks in Tennessee.

There was preaching at Good Hope last Saturday and Sunday by the pastor, Rev. Bryant.

George Rogers has moved on the Roy S. Lawson farm, which he has rented for the year 1901, for $36.

Mrs. Jake Newland is dangerously ill of pneumonia, also Mrs. Geo. Elam is very low of a relapse of measles.

If troubled with a weak digestion, belching, sour stomach, or if you feel dull after eating, try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Price 25 cents. Samples free at McRoberts drug store.

PREACHERSVILLE.

We are having some real winter weather.

J. C. Fox has gone to the mountains to buy some slop cattle.

Our school is progressing nicely, and new scholars are arriving constantly.

J. B. Hutchins has the foundation of his house laid and will press his house to completion at once.

Mr. Dan Green, of Pulaski county, was here the first of the week looking for a farm to buy. He is a fine citizen.

B. F. Patton, of Bryantsville, passed through here last week with 22 nice mules, which he bought in Whitley county.

Our school gave an entertainment Saturday night, which was well attended and highly enjoyed. All performed their part well, and Prof. McKee's lecture on Astronomy was fine.

J. J. Barton and Miss Hackley, of Lancaster, paid our village a pleasant visit Sunday. George Archer was in our town Saturday. Rev. Hobbs went over to Cartersville Saturday to fill his appointment there.

BETTIS.

The farmers are hustling plowing their corn land.

Hogs are scarce in this community. W. S. Bourne's sheep are dying with a disease unknown.

Auctioneer Am Bourne is confined to his room with grip.

E. Dunn raised 6,800 lbs of hemp from six acres of land.

Speaks and Adams' saw mill is running in W. B. Marsee's woods, cutting from 3,000 to 5,000 feet per day.

Mr. Taylor House and wife, of Sweeney, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Sutton. Mr. Holtzclaw and wife spent Wednesday with her parents. Mr. Robert Bettis and E. S. Bourne attended court at Danville Monday, the latter sold his horse.

BUCKEYE.

Miss Bettie Broadus, of Kirksville, has been the guest of Miss Minnie Guley several days. Mr. and Mrs. James Harward are visiting the latter's sister at Tyrone. Took the Falls City at Sanders' Ferry. Mrs. Ammon Manford, nee Miss Emma Ray, of Frankfort, is expected on the Falls City, Wednesday morning, to visit Mrs. Herod Ray. Miss Letia Ray, of Saunders' Ferry, will enter Mrs. Joseph Bogie's select school, Monday. Mrs. Joe Simpson entertained a few friends at tea Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. J. W. Teater and Frank Hawkins, of Harrodsburg. Miss Georgia Ray entertained a few friends at tea Saturday evening.

About a fortnight prior to her death Mrs. M. E. Logan handed her husband a ring she had worn her whole wedded life, a period of thirty years, telling him to whom she wished it given and from whom she had received it. Which hitherto had been kept a secret. There is being a novel written within the realm of Buckeye, about which hangs a very sad romance, entitled, "A Nameless Ring—Or who was Wronged." The parallel of the story is well known by the villagers. I was given the pleasure of reading a portion of the manuscript, but without being able to suppress tears. It will probably be ready for the press soon.

A family hard by having thrice their share of sickness aroused the sympathy of their fellow neighbor, who convened at the home one day last week, and proffered a hand of assistance, which was readily and gracefully accepted. This is my commendment, "That ye love one another, as I have loved you." St. John, 13:12.

"NEARER MY GOD TO THEE."

The Hymn was Written by an English Girl, who did Not Know the Glory That Awaited It.

"As a writer, as a poet, there were few in the literary world of London (in the forties) who had not heard of Sarah Flower Adams, the gifted woman to whom all Christendom today pays homage in its love for her immortal hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee," writes Clifford Howard in the February Ladies' Home Journal. "It was written in 1840, and had subsequently been set to music by Eliza Flower, and included in a collection of hymns written and composed by the two sisters. Only within that year had their book of 'Hymns and Anthems' been published, and the hymn that was destined to inspire the world had then been heard but once or twice, and within the walls of a single church—South Palace Chapel, London."

"It was not, however, until after the year 1860, when the present well-known tune was composed for it by Dr. Lowell Mason, of New York, that the hymn attained its widespread popularity. Up to that time it had attracted but little notice. Through the spirit of Doctor Mason's sympathetic music, it was quickened into glorious life and brought within the reach of every congregation and every christian soul. But this was long after the author of the hymn had passed away. She died in 1848, without knowing of the triumph and the glory that awaited her work. Her grave in the little village of her birth is unmarked by any monument to her fame."

EARLY STRAWS OF FASHION.

Fancies for the Coming Spring that Have Won the Approval of French Women.

The drooping hats will be much seen in the Spring.

Gowns are made long on the shoulders, yokes and collarettes are run down long on the shoulders, or the shoulders are trimmed.

Tucks will be very much in evidence the coming spring and summer.

It is really too early to tell whether the furor for gold will run over into another season. We must wait and see if we feel gold when the summer days come. Cravats are seen on the new cloth gowns.

Cashmeres will be popular the coming spring, and all the women at Nice and Monte Carlo are wearing the light pastel shades in cloth and the pale pinks, blues and beiges, as usual.

Mixed cloths are very much seen—that is to say, black with a liberal peppering of white, gray with white, and pastel blue.

For slender women nothing can be prettier for the spring than the boleros with basque backs consisting of three little pieces on each side, one over the other and rounded at the ends. Above these pieces is a belt. Katharine de Forest's Paris Letter in February Ladies' Home Journal.

Osteopathy In A Nut Shell.

Using the Arms and limbs as levers thus stretching all muscles to which they give attachment and moving the flesh from side to side, the entire length of the limb stretches and softens those muscles, thus permitting a free flow of the fluids and nerve forces to those parts, a stoppage of which means disease in some of its varied forms. One thorough treatment of any arm or leg will often instantly cure and always relieve a case of any nature in the extremities and a very few treatments will effect a cure.

The Cerebro Spinal Cord is the great trunk from which spring the spinal nerves which with the cranial control all the different muscles and organs. It is contained in the spinal column, which is very flexible, consisting of many separate bones held in position by muscles and ligaments. As the nerves escape from the spinal cord through openings in the different sections of the spinal column, the muscles in this region should be very soft and elastic. Contraction here means interference with nerves that may control some distant part and a consequent diseased condition of the part involved until by manipulation or accidentally you stretch the muscle at fault thus turning on the current from that great dynamo, the brain, and once more the machine moves forward normally. We find that there are very few nervous or organic troubles whose origin may not be traced directly to the spine and cured by moving and softening by deep manipulations all the muscles of the spine at the origin of the nerves involved.

Diseases of the Head such as catarrh, weak eyes, deafness, roaring in the head, dizziness and in fact almost all disorders of the head are caused by an obstructed circulation and may be cured by using the head as a lever and thus gently stretching and freeing all the muscles of the neck. In the limited space, at our command, in this circular, it is impossible to give the reader more than a glance at the wonderfully simple and common sense principles of Osteopathy.

Diseases Successfully Treated.

We cure the following list of diseases and many others, often after every other known remedy has been tried and failed:

Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis, Eczema, Brain Fever, Granulated Eyelids, Headache, Dripping Eyes, Pterygium, Dizziness, Polypus of Nose, Catarrh, Enlarged Tonsils, Diphtheria, Croup, Whooping Cough, Asthma, Goitre, Pneumonia, Hay Fever, Indigestion, Torpid Liver, Lack of Assimilation, Neuralgia of Stomach and Bowels, Gall Stones, Constipation, Fistula, Flux, Piles, Kidney Diseases, Dysentery, Irregularities of the Heart, Rheumatism or Neuralgia of all parts, Female Diseases, Atrophy of Limbs, Paralysis, Varicose Veins, Milk Leg, Measles, Mumps, Chicken Pox, Fever or Coldness of any part of the System, and Nervous Prostration.

We are particularly successful in all cases of Rheumatism, Dropsy, Paralysis, Heart Disease, Flux, Chronic Diarrhoea, Asthma, Dislocations, General Debility, Short and Difficult Breathing, Lumbago, Headache, Kidney Diseases and Catarrh.

Our treatment is particularly adapted to all Female Diseases.—We often find a slight dislocation in the spine (caused by a sprain or accident) and a consequent pressure upon the nerves that control the genital organs. A very few treatments always gives relief, and a continuation of the treatment a permanent cure.

In giving Osteopathic Treatment it is not necessary to expose any part of the patient's body, except in rare instances which would be self evident. Ladies are required to remove tight clothing and bands, substituting a loose wrapper, with which they may provide themselves.

We can furnish testimonials of many seemingly miraculous cures made by us through Central Kentucky. Our consultations are free and our terms reasonable. Give us a call at our office next door to post-office, Lancaster, Ky.

The croquet club met Friday evening with Misses Robertson and Hillton, at the home of Mr. R. H. Batson.

Miss Ida Grant, the efficient reporter for the Courier-Journal and Stanford Journal, has been quite ill, but is much improved.

Ed Walton, of the Interior Journal and Joe Waters, of the Lincoln Democrat, were here Monday mingling with the court day crowd.

The doctors say they were never so busy as at present. The grip is causing trouble in nearly every family in the town and county.

The Maids and Matrons Sewing Club will meet next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock with Miss Mary Gill, Stanford avenue.

Miss Gena Dunlap, after several weeks' visit to her cousins, Miss Bertha and Mary Burnside, left yesterday for her home in Lexington.

Lexington Herald:—Attorney Wood G. Dunlap left last night for New York. He received a telegram from a law firm of that city to leave at once to attend to legal business in connection with some Kentucky land deals.

The following invitation has been issued:

Misses Anderson to meet Mrs. Allen Thursday afternoon, Jan. thirty-first two to four o'clock.

At Cards.

Shelby Sentinel:—Hon. G. G. Gilbert and wife arrived last Friday night from Washington, D. C. Mr. Gilbert returned Monday evening to his Congressional duties, after attending to some business matters here. Miss Mary Gilbert is still in the Capital city.

A moderate outfit for a bride would be a good street costume, several old bodices, a black skirt, a silk gown and a house gown. These, with the clothes which she already has, entirely renovated and remodeled, and a sufficient amount of neatly made underclothing is all that any girl in moderate circumstances needs for her trousseau—even less would be in order.—Emma M. Hopper in February Ladies' Home Journal.

Miss Maggie Tomlinson gave a cinch party Saturday evening.

Dr. J. W. Wesley, of Middleburg, is visiting his son, Dr. I. S. Wesley.

Master Joe Price has returned from several days' visit to relatives in Danville.

Gratifying news has been received that Miss Nell Warren continues to improve.

Miss Mary Woodridge has returned from a month's visit to relatives in Lexington.

Miss Kate Simpson, who has been quite sick with grippe is reported much better.

Mr. A. McKee Kinnaid and bride, of Middleboro, have been spending a few days with his parents, Squire Kinnaid and wife.

Miss Annie Royston has been suffering for the past ten days with a severe case of la grippe. Her sister, Mrs. Gaines, has been teaching for her.

Mr. Vernon Signal:—W. T. Short, our splendid deputy U. S. Marshal, is an applicant for the deputy collector's place, under Denton, and stands a fair chance of getting it. Mrs. Cleo Brown, who recently purchased a millinery store in Georgetown, will leave in a few days for that place, to take charge and get in readiness for her spring opening. It is with much regret that the people of Mt. Vernon give her up.

Lexington Herald:—Mr. Walter H. att, who has been travelling and studying in Europe, will return home today. Mr. Hatt was formerly a member of the staff of The Morning Herald. After completing a course in Kentucky University in the French and German languages, he visited Germany and France for the purpose of studying more thoroughly the languages and customs of those nations. It will be remembered that he has written a number of interesting articles for the Herald.

Mrs. Louis Landram gave a progressive euchre Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Gena Dunlap, of Lexington. The guests were Misses Maggie Tomlinson, Mary Woodridge, of Denver, Bertha and Mary Burnside, Bettie Anderson, Altie and Bessie Marksburg, Messrs. Alex Denny, Millard West, Bob Davidson, J. H. Kinnaid, Ed Doty, Frank Marksburg, Ernest Brown, Ben Herndon and Mrs. A. H. Rice. The score cards were red hearts tied with red ribbon. The first prize, a silver paper cutter, was won by Miss Tomlinson. The second, a silver tooth pick, by Mr. Denny. A delicious repast followed the game.

Prof. C. M. Kennedy, of this city, and Miss Carmen Davis, of Nicholasville, were married at the residence of Eld. A. R. Moore, on Lexington street Sunday afternoon. The bride was one of Nicholasville's leading society belles, and a young lady of beauty and accomplishments. Prof. Kennedy has been very successful in the practice of osteopathy in this city and county. He is a young man of good habits and attends to his business in a manner which has won for him the confidence and respect of all our citizens. The happy pair have rooms at the New Garrard.

A suit is being prepared against the Cumberland Telephone Company which will be brought in the name of the State under Section 201 of the State Constitution, which prohibits a railroad, telegraph or telephone company from purchasing or leasing a parallel or competing line or exchange. It will be presented by Attorney General R. J. Breckinridge, assisted by other eminent men of legal knowledge who will show that the monopoly's purchase of some half dozen independent telephone exchange and toll lines during the past year, is illegal and void. The case will be vigorously pushed in the interest of the people.

Teeth Large as Roosevelt's.

On Wednesday last old "Pap" Gunter, a big stoop-shouldered individual with red chin whiskers and hailing from Howdy Creek, was in town to get his teeth repaired. The dentist, who undertook the job was dumfounded to find imbedded in a cavity of one of the man's back teeth a large grain of corn. The discovery caused old "Pap" to look like thirty cents. While sitting around the fire the gentleman had been in the habit of eating large quantities of parched horse corn, which fact undoubtedly accounted for the presence of the kernel in his tooth. He had no idea there was there, no, indeed. The fact that it was parched kept it from sprouting. The incident is probably without a parallel in the gory annals of dentistry. It shows that no dentist, when exploring the gloomy recesses of the human oral cavity, can ever know just what he may dig into. The profession is full of risks. Being aware of this, dentists are generally more or less nervous to face noxious gales and strange revelation.

BIG FIRE AT DANVILLE.

Lyons & Nichols' Fine Steam Laundry, and Other Valuable Property, Damaged in Danville.

A special to the Louisville Times says the Danville steam laundry was partially destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, entailing a property loss of about $12,000 and throwing twenty-five persons out of employment. The upper stories of the building, occupied by the laundry owned by G. D. Batterton, were badly damaged. R. R. Gentry's meat market and the Danville Ice and Coal Company also suffered damage to the amount of five or six hundred dollars. But for the water-works the fire would have spread to the opera house and post office and wiped out the business portion of the town. The laundry was one of the finest in the State, and the best of its machinery, nearly all of it new, is ruined. It is pretty well insured, and is also the building. Henry and Sam Lyons and John Nichols owned the laundry. It will be six weeks or two months before it can be put in operation again. The fire started in the upper room at the laundry in the building adjoining.

Lyons & Nichols announce that the laundry will be rebuilt and in the meantime all orders from customers will be filled promptly.

Death From Lock-Jaw.

News of the sudden death of Mr. T. L. Sanders, of Stone, this county, caused deep regret all over the county. Mr. Sanders was tearing up a floor in an outhouse last week, when a plank slipped and drove a nail into his foot. The wound was not a large or very deep one, and Mr. Sanders continued with his work for a day or so, when he was forced to take his bed. The pain increased and blood-poison set up, which finally caused lock-jaw. Everything possible was done for his relief, but to no avail. He lingered until Sunday afternoon, when he passed away. Funeral services were held at Scotts Fork church Monday, conducted by Eld. A. Meldrum, of Lexington, and the remains interred in the Lancaster Cemetery. No man was more widely-known in Garrard county than Mr. Sanders, nor did anyone stand higher in the estimation of the people. In early life he united with the Christian church, and was a leader and zealous worker for the cause of Christ. He was an elder in his church, and did more than anyone else for its maintenance. He leaves a widow and ten children, his being the first death in the immediate family. They have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. They have lost a good husband and father, and the county an honest, upright and useful citizen. Mr. Sanders would have been 49 years old his next birthday.

The Way to Kill the Town.

We devoted much space to telephone talk this and last issue. Its not all meant for telephone exchanges, but is published in order to spur the people up to standing by home enterprises. If people can't support the institutions of a town, they ought to move out of it. What encouragement is there for capital to invest here if the people are inclined to "take up" with every stranger who brings in his gold brick scheme? Its this way: If Lancaster is good enough to make money in, its certainly good enough to spend money in. No business in Lancaster feels this "sending away for work" more severely than does THE RECORD office. There are men in town who don't want anything printed in Lancaster (except an occasional free puff) and send all their work away, for which they pay much more than for the same job right here. We are not alone, if you please. There are other institutions who catch it in the neck equally as hard. Any business institution has to depend upon its income, of course, so when you give it poor patronage, you may expect shallow service. We know several families who order their flour from the city, yet they think the home mills ought to run on, and pay out as much for labor as if every family in town patronized them. It may be well enough to do this if you get better prices (save about a sixteenth of a cent) but it would be the fair thing to at least ask the Lancaster man's prices first. This is getting to be a serious question, and it will never be stopped until every fellow patronizes the man who patronizes him.

It's That Way in Lancaster.

The following, from the Cynthiana Democrat, covers the case here so fully, that we reproduce the entire article. Read it carefully.

"It is understood that the Cumberland Telephone Co. will ask for a franchise to do business in Cynthiana. This means, very likely, that the Cumberland contemplates building a new plant in this city with the object of running out the local company and controlling the business. We do not know that this is the object, but we believe it is quite probable so. Now, of course our people are opposed to monopolies, combines, or trusts of any and every kind, and it would appear that the local company had secured a monopoly if the Cumberland should not be allowed to come in. It is well known, however, that the Cumberland is controlled by a trust with an immense capital back of it, and that for months it has been endeavoring to secure absolute control of telephone interests in Kentucky. The Cynthiana Telephone Co. is a home institution, owned and controlled solely by home people, and certainly no one can say that it has not been moderate and just in its rates and has not furnished first-class service. The money which this home company earns remains in Cynthiana, is spent or invested here, and in that respect helps build up and strengthen the town. We do not think there is a citizen who would wish to see the Cynthiana Telephone Co. "run out," or be made the object of attack by a powerful corporation. Therefore if the city council sees fit to grant the Cumberland, or any other company, a franchise, the rates should be regulated in such a manner that justice may be done to all parties concerned. For instance, if a new company comes in and reduces rates to a low figure, that figure should by ordinance be fixed as the regular rate for all time. There should be a minimum and a maximum rate, and whichever is selected at the start should be made perpetual. In some places, we are informed, the rate has been cut to fifty cents a month until some competing company was driven out of the field, and then raised to exorbitant figures. If a fifty cent rate is established here, let it be fifty cents from this date to eternity. This we believe, is the sentiment of the people, and the council should respect it."

Many a bright and happy household has been thrown into sadness and sorrow because of the death of a loved one from a neglected cold. Cousin's Honey of Tar is the great cure for coughs, colds and all pulmonary ailments. Price 25 and 50 cents. C. C. & J. E. Stormes.

Every man is supposed to know his own business, but it is hard to convince some of his friends that he does.

Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because they cannot eat the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat and restores all the digestive organs to perfect health. F. P. Frisbie.

Lancaster Man's Luck.

Stanford Democrat:—While in London a few days ago we met L. F. Hubble, of Lancaster, who has made that place his headquarters since he has been in the real estate business. He made a cool $5,000 in a deal in Eastern Kentucky some months ago and has an option on 100,000 acres of coal and timbered lands along Rockcastle and Cumberland rivers in Rockcastle, Laurel, Pulaski, and Whitley, and in Scott and Campbell counties in Tennessee. Mr. Hubble bought the famous Rockcastle Springs last week, but declines to give the figures.

Editor In His Glory.

It is seldom a country editor gets higher than the festive cob pipe in the smoking line, but THE RECORD office was perfumed in true shape the other day when Mr. F. P. Frisbie, the up-to-date druggist, gave us a twenty-five cent cigar. For the few minutes that it lasted, we forgot the trials and tribulations of a printing office, stuck our heels on top of a job press and dreamed we were "white folks." The office cat went to the woodshed, the "devil" made a sneak for home, while a couple of creditors who ventured in jumped out the second story window. They thought it impossible for an editor to put on style.

That might be a riddle or an invitation to a church fair, but it isn't. It's a concise way of calling public attention to the fact that The Royal Tailors, of Chicago, have authorized us to reduce prices on 281 Fall and Winter Patterns all the way from $1 to $5 per suit—and we've done it! Our prices on this high grade tailoring were very low before, but now they afford absolutely the best investment a man ever made in the way of dress. Come and see these patterns; we have them all; costs you nothing to look and but little to buy—and our guarantee is your safety-valve.

[And here's a friendly tip: They won't last always.] J. C. Hemphill.

Explanatory.

The statement in the last issue of THE RECORD, that I was a candidate for police judge of the city of Lancaster, subject to any action that might be taken by the democratic committee, resulted from the belief that the committee had jurisdiction in the city as in the magisterial district. But, since the committee refuses to take action, as other candidates decline to submit their claims, and as it is generally believed to be a non-political office, I am an independent candidate and solicit the suffrage of my republican as well as my democratic friends, promising to discharge the duties of the office faithfully. Very truly, M. D. Hughes.

Will Bring Suit.

A suit is being prepared against the Cumberland Telephone Company which will be brought in the name of the State under Section 201 of the State Constitution, which prohibits a railroad, telegraph or telephone company from purchasing or leasing a parallel or competing line or exchange. It will be presented by Attorney General R. J. Breckinridge, assisted by other eminent men of legal knowledge who will show that the monopoly's purchase of some half dozen independent telephone exchange and toll lines during the past year, is illegal and void. The case will be vigorously pushed in the interest of the people.

Teeth Large as Roosevelt's.

On Wednesday last old "Pap" Gunter, a big stoop-shouldered individual with red chin whiskers and hailing from Howdy Creek, was in town to get his teeth repaired. The dentist, who undertook the job was dumfounded to find imbedded in a cavity of one of the man's back teeth a large grain of corn. The discovery caused old "Pap" to look like thirty cents. While sitting around the fire the gentleman had been in the habit of eating large quantities of parched horse corn, which fact undoubtedly accounted for the presence of the kernel in his tooth. He had no idea there was there, no, indeed. The fact that it was parched kept it from sprouting. The incident is probably without a parallel in the gory annals of dentistry. It shows that no dentist, when exploring the gloomy recesses of the human oral cavity, can ever know just what he may dig into. The profession is full of risks. Being aware of this, dentists are generally more or less nervous to face noxious gales and strange revelation.

BIG FIRE AT DANVILLE.

Lyons & Nichols' Fine Steam Laundry, and Other Valuable Property, Damaged in Danville.

A special to the Louisville Times says the Danville steam laundry was partially destroyed by fire at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning, entailing a property loss of about $12,000 and throwing twenty-five persons out of employment. The upper stories of the building, occupied by the laundry owned by G. D. Batterton, were badly damaged. R. R. Gentry's meat market and the Danville Ice and Coal Company also suffered damage to the amount of five or six hundred dollars. But for the water-works the fire would have spread to the opera house and post office and wiped out the business portion of the town. The laundry was one of the finest in the State, and the best of its machinery, nearly all of it new, is ruined. It is pretty well insured, and is also the building. Henry and Sam Lyons and John Nichols owned the laundry. It will be six weeks or two months before it can be put in operation again. The fire started in the upper room at the laundry in the building adjoining.

Death From Lock-Jaw.

News of the sudden death of Mr. T. L. Sanders, of Stone, this county, caused deep regret all over the county. Mr. Sanders was tearing up a floor in an outhouse last week, when a plank slipped and drove a nail into his foot. The wound was not a large or very deep one, and Mr. Sanders continued with his work for a day or so, when he was forced to take his bed. The pain increased and blood-poison set up, which finally caused lock-jaw. Everything possible was done for his relief, but to no avail. He lingered until Sunday afternoon, when he passed away. Funeral services were held at Scotts Fork church Monday, conducted by Eld. A. Meldrum, of Lexington, and the remains interred in the Lancaster Cemetery. No man was more widely-known in Garrard county than Mr. Sanders, nor did anyone stand higher in the estimation of the people. In early life he united with the Christian church, and was a leader and zealous worker for the cause of Christ. He was an elder in his church, and did more than anyone else for its maintenance. He leaves a widow and ten children, his being the first death in the immediate family. They have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement. They have lost a good husband and father, and the county an honest, upright and useful citizen. Mr. Sanders would have been 49 years old his next birthday.

The Way to Kill the Town.

We devoted much space to telephone talk this and last issue. Its not all meant for telephone exchanges, but is published in order to spur the people up to standing by home enterprises. If people can't support the institutions of a town, they ought to move out of it. What encouragement is there for capital to invest here if the people are inclined to "take up" with every stranger who brings in his gold brick scheme? Its this way: If Lancaster is good enough to make money in, its certainly good enough to spend money in. No business in Lancaster feels this "sending away for work" more severely than does THE RECORD office. There are men in town who don't want anything printed in Lancaster (except an occasional free puff) and send all their work away, for which they pay much more than for the same job right here. We are not alone, if you please. There are other institutions who catch it in the neck equally as hard. Any business institution has to depend upon its income, of course, so when you give it poor patronage, you may expect shallow service. We know several families who order their flour from the city, yet they think the home mills ought to run on, and pay out as much for labor as if every family in town patronized them. It may be well enough to do this if you get better prices (save about a sixteenth of a cent) but it would be the fair thing to at least ask the Lancaster man's prices first. This is getting to be a serious question, and it will never be stopped until every fellow patronizes the man who patronizes him.

It's That Way in Lancaster.

The following, from the Cynthiana Democrat, covers the case here so fully, that we reproduce the entire article. Read it carefully.

"It is understood that the Cumberland Telephone Co. will ask for a franchise to do business in Cynthiana. This means, very likely, that the Cumberland contemplates building a new plant in this city with the object of running out the local company and controlling the business. We do not know that this is the object, but we believe it is quite probable so. Now, of course our people are opposed to monopolies, combines, or trusts of any and every kind, and it would appear that the local company had secured a monopoly if the Cumberland should not be allowed to come in. It is well known, however, that the Cumberland is controlled by a trust with an immense capital back of it, and that for months it has been endeavoring to secure absolute control of telephone interests in Kentucky. The Cynthiana Telephone Co. is a home institution, owned and controlled solely by home people, and certainly no one can say that it has not been moderate and just in its rates and has not furnished first-class service. The money which this home company earns remains in Cynthiana, is spent or invested here, and in that respect helps build up and strengthen the town. We do not think there is a citizen who would wish to see the Cynthiana Telephone Co. "run out," or be made the object of attack by a powerful corporation. Therefore if the city council sees fit to grant the Cumberland, or any other company, a franchise, the rates should be regulated in such a manner that justice may be done to all parties concerned. For instance, if a new company comes in and reduces rates to a low figure, that figure should by ordinance be fixed as the regular rate for all time. There should be a minimum and a maximum rate, and whichever is selected at the start should be made perpetual. In some places, we are informed, the rate has been cut to fifty cents a month until some competing company was driven out of the field, and then raised to exorbitant figures. If a fifty cent rate is established here, let it be fifty cents from this date to eternity. This we believe, is the sentiment of the people, and the council should respect it."

CATARRH

Catarrh has become such a common disease that a person entirely free from this disgusting complaint is seldom met with. It is customary to speak of Catarrh as nothing more serious than a bad cold, a simple inflammation of the nose and throat. It is, in fact, a complicated and very dangerous disease; if not at first, it very soon becomes so.

The blood is quickly contaminated by the foul secretions, and the poison through the general circulation is carried to all parts of the system.

Salves, washes and sprays are unsatisfactory and disappointing, because they do not reach the seat of the trouble. S. S. S. does. It cleanses the blood of the poison and eliminates it from the system all catarrhal secretions, and thus cures thoroughly and permanently the worst cases.

Mr. T. A. Williams, a leading dry-goods merchant of Spartanburg, S. C., writes: "For years I had a severe case of nasal Catarrh, with all the disagreeable effects which belong to that disease, and which made life painful and unendurable. I used all the remedies suggested by leading physicians and suggested by numbers of friends, but without getting any better. I then began to take S. S. S. It had the desired effect, and cured me. After taking eighteen bottles. In my opinion S. S. S. is the only medicine now in use that will effect a permanent cure of Catarrh."

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known, and the greatest of all blood medicines and tonics.

If you have Catarrh don't wait until it becomes deep-seated and chronic, but begin at once in use of S. S. S., and send for our book "Blood and Skin Diseases" and write our physicians about your case.

There is no reason why a farmer should go into his spring work with half his winter work undone. The weather has been too fine for that.

Over and over it must be urged that a too exclusive feeding of corn to hogs and especially to young growing hogs, tends to weak bones and muscles. Corn is the great finishing food.

Pigs grow rapidly on skimmed milk mixed with shorts, fed fresh. Another good food is oat meal as in place of shorts with the milk. These are among the best feeds for rapid growth in pigs.

TURKEYS AND STRAWBERRIES

Business Schemes of Two Enterprising Yankee Girls in the Philippines.

"Strawberries are selling at $2.50 per pint, and they are canned at that!"

This is the statement which caused Miss Agnes Slocum, of a certain town in Vermont, high in the Green mountains, to open her pretty eyes. Then she closed them, and during the minute they remained shut she pictured such visions of life in the Philippines as caused her family to utter exclamations of surprise, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"I am going to Manila, mother," announced Miss Agnes at dinner that day, "and when I come back I will bring a fortune with me. Now I am only plain Agnes Slocum, but when I return it will be Miss Slocum, the millionaire planter!"

It takes a good deal to surprise a Vermont farmer, but Farmer Slocum and his wife and the rest of the Slocum family were amazed when Miss Agnes unfolded her plans.

She intended to go to the Philippine islands with a trunk and packing box; the former to contain her wardrobe, the latter to transport a large stock of strawberry plants. "It is neither too hot nor too wet for them there," announced she, "for I have studied it up, and next season I shall have all the strawberries they can eat in Manila and Luzon, and maybe enough to send to the sultan of Sulu. I do not know where I shall locate, but most likely I shall select a nice rolling piece of land back of Bacolod, and there where the soil is well drained I shall plow and make a large stock of strawberry plants. It will be carefully set in, one by one, and another season they will be loaded with berries. What shall I charge per quart? That depends! As much as I can get for them."

Well, after some consultation, Miss Slocum started out with $500, which she thought would be more than sufficient for her needs for a year, and the good wishes of her friends.

That was early in the present year. The first letter received from Miss Slocum, planter, reported that she had secured two acres of excellent land, not far from Bacolod, and that she had set out her tiny plants and was waiting for them to grow. They were doing remarkably well for the first season, as few of them had died. Miss Slocum added that the demand for fresh American berries was much greater than she had supposed, and that all her crop for the first season had already been engaged. As soon as possible she would divide her roots and extend her field of operations, making a strawberry farm of some dimensions. The idea of setting out the plants and holding back portions of them to assure a continuous crop had entered her mind and might be successfully worked.

Grace Elliott Page is the name of another girl who is trying her fortunes in the Philippines. She is also a New Englander, a Maine girl, and her dream was to raise turkeys in the Philippine islands.

As the weather is very favorable part of the year, and as turkeys only need to have shelter provided for them during the rainy season, she saw no reason why they should not thrive on the Pacific coast as well as along the coast of the Atlantic, and as for demand, there was no question about that. An American turkey in the Philippines, a plump Thanksgiving turkey, brings its price.

According to her calculations every turkey will be worth $5 to Miss Page, and the feed will cost almost nothing, as nuts grow wild and native foods are very cheap.

Miss Page took the steamer for the Philippine islands in March. She took with her a cargo of turkey eggs, two incubators and 100 live hens. Her idea is to divide the labor of hatching the turkeys between the hens and incubators, and so bring her turkey flocks into the world.

There have always been turkeys in the Philippines, but such turkeys! Thin and of poor flavor, ill-plumaged, and under-sized—none such as grace the American board on Thanksgiving day.

Miss Page read of the turkey situation abroad in our Pacific colony, and started for the island of Luzon to raise turkeys. That she will succeed there is little doubt.

The only thing that stands in the way of the permanent success of these two women farmers is the fact that they are young and pretty, and that there are many marriageable men in the islands. Maybe they will remain girl bachelors, but the chances are that they will marry before the first season is over.

Swallows as Carriers.

The question of employing swallows instead of pigeons to carry dispatches has been seriously considered in France. The attitude of the swallow for the work is by many held to be even greater than that of the pigeon. They fly to a greater height and are therefore less exposed to being shot, and they travel faster, making nearly 80 miles an hour, where a pigeon would only get over 50. It is also claimed for them that they are more faithful, intelligent and have not on long journeys to stop to feed, as the pigeon has. It is also asserted that the swallow can be more easily and quickly trained.—Chicago Chronicle.

A MUM PARROT.

His New Owner Tried to Get It to Talk But Failed, and No Wonder.

Though he has regretful periods of alcoholic abstraction, during which he is liable to indulge in all manner of farcical capers, he is generally well liked and respected by his neighbors on the West side. His last lapse from grace almost resulted in social ostracism, however.

He was going to Jefferson avenue like a sandstorm beating against the wind when a beautifully-feathered parrot in a bird store window attracted his bibulous fancy.

"Bird in 'th' hand—hic—worth two in 'th' store," he muttered, as he entered and struck a bargain, relates the Detroit Free Press.

When he got home, Polly wandered into a room where a number of friends were gathered, they were greeted by the chorus: "Only a bird in a gilded cage, a beautiful sight to see."

Polly did not prove to be a congenial member of the crowd, and after she had made one or two short and uncomplimentary remarks, which seemed to be highly embarrassing to a political candidate, she was removed to a rear room until her owner should be ready to go home. That was not until far into the shadowy hours. He did not forget the "bird in the gilded cage," or at least the conspirators in the joke did not allow him to forget his purchase of the afternoon. All the way home he provided rare entertainment for the street car passengers by his one-sided conversation with the parrot, which, strange to say, ignored him entirely. Polly seemed to be morose and abstracted. She was either thoroughly ashamed of her new owner, else she was already beginning to pine for the companionship of her kind in the bird store. No amount of cajolery or persuasion would induce her to converse, and she sat bolt upright in her cage, with a stolid and indifferent expression on her countenance. Meanwhile the passengers nudged one another knowingly, and tried hard to suppress their merriment.

"Pretty Polly," he would say, coaxingly. "Shan't, Polly, why don't ye talk, eh? Ye talked—hic—nuff don't ye talk up now? Well—hic—thash what I thought ye fur, an' if ye don't talk I'll have to take ye back, thash—hic—al!"

Arrived home, he renewed his efforts to induce the parrot to be sociable. He was becoming impatient when a member of the household appeared on the scene. He took in the situation at a glance.

"Why," said he, "that's a stuffed parrot you have in there."

It was true—the fellows at the downtown resort had substituted a dummy parrot for the live bird. The rage of the now half-sobered purchaser knew no bounds. Despite family protests, he engaged an early-morning iceman to drive him to the place, where he demanded his bird and an apology. There all knowledge of the substitution was denied, and then the iceman was instructed to hurry his D'Arctagnan steeds to the residence of the man who was believed to have been at the bottom of the joke. He lives near the victim, and when, awakened from a troubled sleep, he looked out of the window and beheld in the daylight glimmer the spectacle of a man making an impassioned speech from the seat of an ice wagon he concluded that either he was still dreaming, that the iceman had gone suddenly crazy, or that the house was on fire, and that the iceman was giving timely warning. When he learned that it was his friend engaged in a frenzied speech of denunciation he realized how serious the little affair had become and hastened to patch up a truce. All the neighbors were aroused, and the bird held it against the early-morning orator for some time.

OUR CADETS FENCE WELL.

A Team at the Naval Academy Defeats One from the Visiting Warships of France.

When the French warships which recently visited this country arrived at Annapolis the cadets of the naval academy sent a challenge to the cadets on board the visiting vessels for a fencing contest. The challenge was promptly accepted and the contest took place in the naval academy gymnasium, and was conducted according to the international fencing regulations, says the New York Tribune. The French team included Ensigns Roy and Franquet from the Cecille and Ensign Pertuis from the Suchet. On the American team were Naval Cadets Adolphus Andrews, of Texas; Lewis B. McBride, of Pennsylvania; and Sidney M. Henry, of New York.

There were nine bouts, of which the Americans scored 32 and the visitors 18. The naval cadets felt confident before the contest began that they would win and were anxious to have the American public know that they are able to cope successfully with Frenchmen in the art which has its highest development in France.

The pleasing feature of the contest was the friendly spirit which prevailed from beginning to end both parties were generous and courteous rivals. The Frenchmen took their defeat with French politeness, and the Americans did not gloat over their victory.

Registering Millions of a Second.

In a recent lecture at the Royal Institution, London, Sir Andrew Noble mentioned that in experiments with high power explosives used in guns a chronoscope had been employed which registered the velocity of the projectile at 26 successive points before it left the bore. It was possible with this apparatus to register time to the millionth of a second. In the older experiments, where the velocity did not exceed 1,500 or 1,600 feet per second, the projectile recorded its time by knocking down a series of steel triggers projecting into the bore. But with velocities of 2,500 feet and more per second, the trigger, instead of dropping, frequently plowed a groove in the projectile, and another device was necessary.—Youth's Companion.

NO FLOWERS IN GUAM.

According to Good Authorities the Natives of That Island Do Not Care at All for Them.

Lieut. W. E. Safford, U. S. N., in acknowledging the receipt from President Charles L. Wight of a quantity of seeds and useful plants sent to Guam, writes interestingly as follows of life and conditions there. Lieut. Safford is a scientist of rare attainments, a fact which makes his observations of the more value, says an exchange.

"The natives of this island in general show little appreciation for flowers. They never make leis nor wear the flowers in any way. Only three or four in the entire city of Agaña have flower gardens, and they are laid out in a haphazard manner. They cannot understand why anybody wants to plant anything which is not edible or which does not furnish some useful product. Mr. Haughts has sent some fine things, among which are a number of ornamental palms," quotes the Hawaiian Star. "The native cannot understand what we want with them. There is a village of Caroline Islanders here. These people always wear flowers in their hair and remind me somewhat of the Samoans. The other day a species of Alyxist (maile) was brought to me. I was delighted, for, although it is of a different species from the Hawaiian and Samoan maile, yet it has the same fragrance and the glossy deep green leaves. I said: 'How the Hawaiians love maile; why is it that you people do not love to wear flowers?' One of them said: 'Do you take us for savages like the Carolinas? The next thing you will be expecting us to make great holes in the soles of our ears, like them, so to carry beads and weeds stuck through them.'"

Calculator with Two Brains.

A man with two brains is surely a novelty. Yet Dr. Charcot, the French specialist, inclines to the idea that Mandi, the lightning calculator and human photograph, is so blessed. This phenomenon made his first appearance at the Paris hippodrome, and he is certainly a new attraction to the already big list of "stars" at the house. His memory for figures is mainly auditory. One of his feats is the addition of six lines of six figures a multiplication of six figures by six figures, the division of six figures by five figures and the extraction of the square and cube roots of five figure all at once.—Chicago Chronicle.

Aluminum Replacing Copper Wire

Copper wire is used to carry electricity because it is such a good conductor. Aluminum is also a very good conductor and is beginning to take the place of copper for electric transmission because it is cheaper. Another advantage is that it is only half as heavy, although it must be 25 per cent larger in diameter. The greater size of the cable makes insulation cost more.—Little Chronicle.

Equal to the Occasion.

"Pat," said the dealer to his assistant, "give this gentleman three pigs' feet."—Tit-Bits.

Precaution.

"What would you do if you were to suddenly fall heir to a fortune?" asked one anarchist.

"That is an absurd question," replied the other. "I am not so short-sighted as you believe. I went through all the family records and made dead sure that I couldn't possibly fall heir to a fortune before I turned anarchist."—Washington Star.

Fresh.

"What's new?" asked Borem, then to make himself at home commenced: "The patient man replied: 'That paint you're leaning up against.'"

ONE WEDDING ROMANCE.

Remarkable Reticence of the American Bride Who is of Royal Lineage.

There is a woman living at Brookline, Mass., who is entitled to eminence because of her reticence—an extraordinary thing for one of her sex. She is of high royal lineage, but none of her friends discovered the fact until accident revealed it. She is Mrs. Anna Perkins Slade, and is the niece of the dowager queen of Portugal. It was only the other day when she walked to the altar in a wedding gown of such superb jeweled embroidery as only convents of the old world can produce that the story of her relationship to a spouse of royalty became known. She had to explain the wedding dress. It had been sent to her by her aunt, Elise, countess of Eola, and dowager queen of Portugal.

Anna Slade might have gone to Lisbon had she pleased and been presented in the court of Portugal, a possible bride for a nobleman in that proud little decadent old kingdom.

Foreign titles had no charm for the little American girl, says the Washington Times. She had already met a nobleman whose title to a glorious heritage consisted of a poll-tax receipt and a place on the voting list of Brookline, Mass.

Elise, queen of Portugal, is the only American woman who ever was crowned in Europe. She was born Elise Hensler, in Boston—her father a poor Hebrew workman in that trade of which it is said that it takes nine of them to make a man. He had a tiny shop in a back street, and made a specialty of the garments that were in those days, held down by straps under the shoes. Elise assisted.

She had a marvelous voice and marvelous beauty. At 16 she sang for the first time in public at Springfield. The devoted father's savings sent her to Milan to study, and at 19 she was singing in "La Scala." Then back to the triumphs in New York and over again for an opera tour of Europe.

Fernando, king of Portugal, sat in the royal box at Lisbon. Some time after this and in a less public place he fell on his knees and prayed that she be his bride. And when a grandee of Portugal woos it is not done in a style that leaves any suspicion of half-heartedness—or any question as to the outcome.

The duke of Saxe-Coburg, the king's brother, obligingly made the American girl Countess of Eola, so that her royal rank and that of the royal suitor might be more of an equality.

There was a marriage. Fernando, though crowned king, had merely been taken by the queen of Portugal, through whom the succession came, as her consort, as Victoria married the late prince consort.

The son of that union was on the throne and his dowager father, if the term may be used, had to ask his permission to marry again. It was granted readily and Countess Elise was given the title of dowager queen, though there are numerous ladies of the Portuguese court, direct relatives of the king, who have precedence over her.

The old king and his bride lived in a richly kept estate at Pena, outside of Lisbon, and there his widow lives to this day, honored still as if she were a queen of the blood and member of the house of Portugal.

Just the Right Term.

"He says he has settled down to business again," remarked the common friend.

"He's hit it exactly!" exclaimed the merchant. "He couldn't have chosen a better term. He has settled down, but he hasn't settled up."—Chicago Post.

Somewhat Confusing.

To get our names straight I have striven, But the problem seems accursed: One's "first name" is the last he's given, While the "last name" is the first.—Chicago Post.
